1. Introduction to the information booklet

Your child may already have been identified as having Special Educational Needs. They may be receiving extra support in school to help them with their learning, or they may have a statement of Special Educational Need.

The approach to supporting children who have difficulties with learning is changing. The Welsh Government has passed new legislation, called the Additional Learning Needs and Education Tribunal (Wales) Act, and Additional Learning Needs (ALN) Code, which will replace all of the legislation and guidance about special educational needs.

The purpose of this booklet is to explain the new legislation, and how this will change the way that schools will work with you to identify and support your child's needs.

2. ALNET (Wales) Act 2018

As part of the Additional Learning Needs and Education Tribunal (ALNET) (Wales) Act 2018 the Welsh Government has replaced the term 'Special Educational Needs' (SEN) with 'Additional Learning Needs' (ALN).

- > However, the definition of ALN will be very similar. It will cover those who:
- > have a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age which calls for additional learning provision. or;
- > have a disability for the purposes of the Equality Act 2010 which prevents or hinders him or her from making use of facilities for education or training of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream maintained schools or mainstream institutions in the Further Education Sector which calls for additional learning provision.

The Act introduces a clear duty on local authorities to support you as parent/carers and your child to contribute to the planning for ALN.

This includes:

- > Having regard for the child's, young person's and parents/carers' views and feelings.
- > Promoting participation in decision making.
- > Providing information and support.

3. Important Contacts

Parents/carers have suggested that a list of key people involved in their child's Additional Learning Needs (ALN) support would be useful. We have provided a form for you to record the key information relevant to your child or young person.

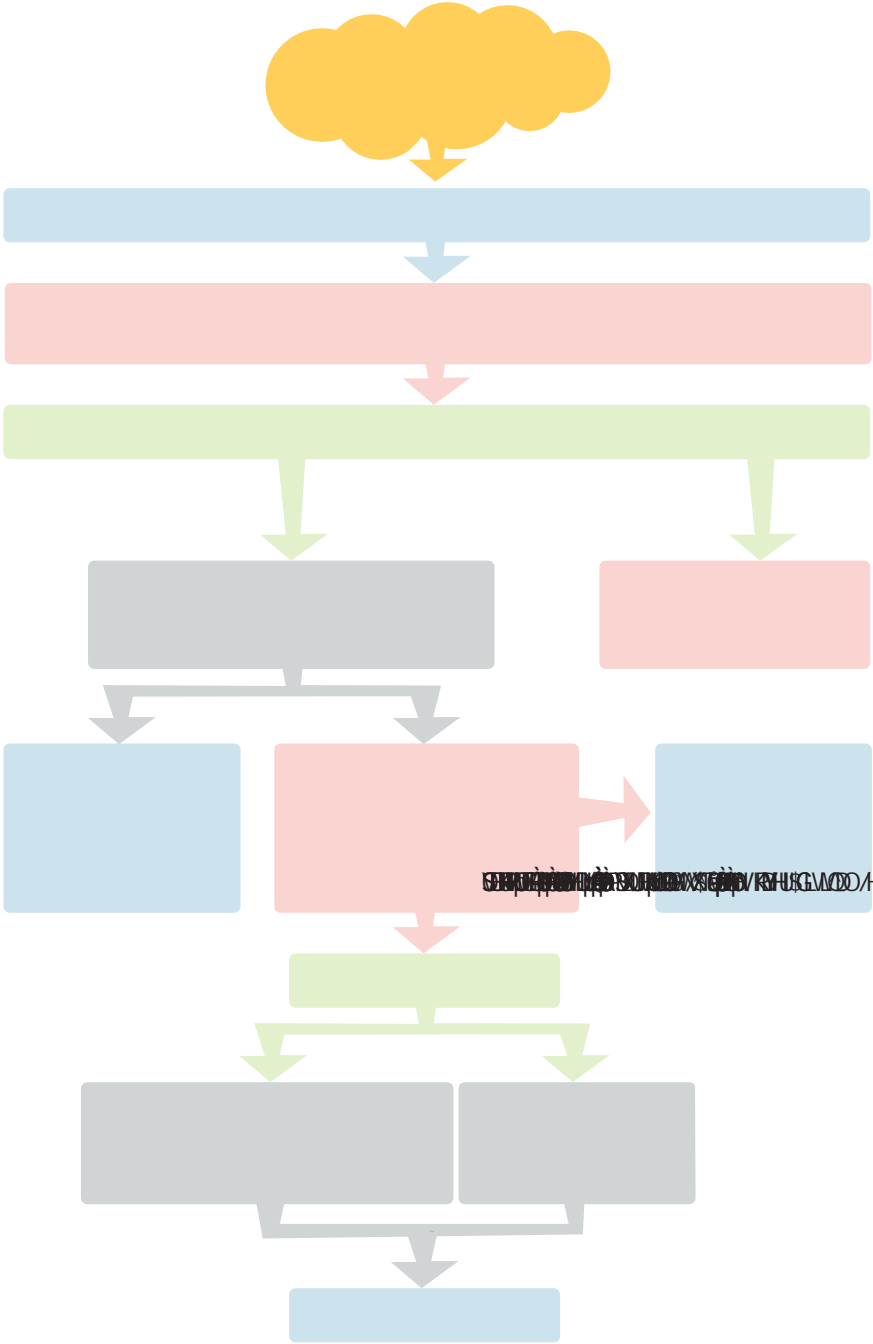

4. ALN Planning & Reviews

Person Centred Practice (PCP)

Using person-centred thinking tools helps to gather everyone's views. Adopting person-centred approaches is particularly useful when thinking and planning for your child's future.

All maintained schools and early years settings in your Local Authority will use person-centred practice to help you be fully involved in sharing your views. This includes working with you and your child to complete an 'About Me Profile'.

Welsh Government has created resources for families, children and young people on what to expect at annual reviews and PCP meetings. Use the link below to access the resource.

SECRET/CONFIDENTIAL/RESTRICTED/NOFORN

Who will be responsible for creating and reviewing the IDP?

An IDP will be reviewed annually (within 12 months) following the person-centred review model of communication and participation. If you or your child wishes, you can request an earlier review.

What will happen at the meeting?

You will find a person-centred review has a relaxed atmosphere, very different to other traditional meetings you may have been to. Everything is set out to be as informal and comfortable as possible.

The meeting may include some of the following elements:

- > If there are lots of people coming, there may be a big table, there could be posters, large pieces of paper pinned up on the walls or a whiteboard/screen where you can see the information being shared. These are to help everyone there, including you and your child, to record what is important.
- > Every review will change to meet the needs of your child, who is at the centre of the meeting. One person, called a facilitator, will have the job of making sure that everyone can have their say and that the meeting comes up with outcomes and actions for change.
- > The facilitator is most likely to be someone from the school or college and you should know who it is before the meeting.
- > The meeting begins with everyone introducing themselves and possibly sharing something that they like or admire about your child.
- > The facilitator will explain what will happen in the review meeting, and then everyone will have the chance to share their views and knowledge about your child.
- > When everyone has finished giving their comments, you will all think about and talk about what needs to change and what outcomes and targets you want to see.
- > You will then all agree what provision will need to be in place to support your child to help him/her meet their aspirations.
- > All those in the meeting will contribute to the Person Centred Practice (PCP) development tool.

At the end of a review

By the end of the review the facilitator will endeavor to ensure that there is an agreed way forward, and that the outcomes and provision for the year ahead are agreed.

A new IDP will be drafted and sent to everyone within 5 days so that everyone can see what is going to be done to support your child to learn, and to achieve their dreams.

If your child is in the early years, is looked after or accesses Education Other than at School (EOTAS), this will be 10 days.

7. Resources

Children in Wales

Children in Wales is the national umbrella body for organisations and individuals who work with children, young people and their families in Wales.

They are a membership body, and their members are drawn from the voluntary, statutory and professional sectors. They work with, and for, our members to promote their interests and meet their needs. Together they:

- > Contribute to making implementation of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child a reality in Wales.
- > Fight for sustainable quality services and fair shares for all children and young people. Ensure special attention and treatment for children in need and those who are marginalised.
- > Ensure children and young people have a voice.

All Wales Forum

The All Wales Forum was set up by a group of parent carers across Wales who want to have 'voice and control' over the way in which services for their sons and daughters with learning disabilities are planned and delivered.

AWF's core mission is to bring a national voice and re-cognition to parents and carers of children and adults living with learning disabilities in Wales.

- > We advocate for the rights of family carers to be heard as equals in service planning and policy development enabling and supporting carer groups and individuals to be fully included in their communities and central to planning processes.
- > We highlight and campaign on national and local issues that directly impact upon parents and carers and their family members working together to ensure that issues directly facing family carers are heard and given proper consideration by the wider community through co-operative working and total engagement.
- > We work in partnership to identify and develop innovative solutions to improve the lives of parents and carers and their family members working with partner organisations at local and national levels through shared resources and collective knowledge to improve and shape those services that ensure good lives.
